Training & Support

Ensuring your project is done right. Right from the beginning.

Our experience. Your success.

TruePoint offers comprehensive services to ensure success for your agency, including operations management, business analysis, strategic and targeted recommendations, implementations, integrations, support, and training.

We're unrivaled in experience and customer satisfaction - the TruePoint Solutions team of experts holds decades of experience and an exemplary track record of success with public agencies of all sizes. We leverage that experience to help agencies achieve their operational objectives and perform at their best level.

Our team of experts has helped public agencies across the country with a variety of needs to achieve goals, operate more effectively and efficiently, improve productivity, automate processes, streamline workflows, and improve citizen satisfaction. We apply our experience and insight with our commitment to deliver optimal outcomes to achieve unqualified success for our customers.

Business Analysis

We perform comprehensive analyses of the components of your operations that affect your objectives and desired outcomes. The assessment is used as the basis to develop customized recommendations for your agency regarding the solutions, workflows, and systems integrations necessary to produce the optimal business process automation.

Project Management

We develop and communicate a full plan for your agency, to set expectations so you'll know what to expect before, during, and after the project. Implementations provide for all necessary aspects of a successful project including planning, status updates and communications, system development and user acceptance testing, data migrations, interface development, custom reporting, training plans, and pre- and post-go-live support.

Training

We personalize your training experience to ensure that your staff are prepared to fully leverage your new solutions at go-live. After we've trained your agency's users on the basics, we take the training experience farther, with interactive sessions that address the scenarios and uses your specific agency will encounter. Our training approach is based on decades of working successfully with public agencies. We also offer training for your agency's in-house product administrators and team leads.

Ongoing Support

TruePoint Solutions offers a variety of support options for on-going and future needs, ranging from on-call support services to supplementing your existing staff. We've earned our reputation for exceptional responsiveness and providing outstanding customer service.
